

MUSIC MOUNTAIN

I'm Ilmar Gavilan, a violin faculty at the Manhattan School of Music and Montclair University, also a founding member and first violinist of the Harlem Quartet. For the last eighteen years, our quartet has traveled the world performing a variety of programs from the classical repertoire. Driven by a desire to expand our audiences and better connect with younger students, we began to incorporate jazz selections and interactive presentations at schools.

Currently serving a visiting residency at London's Royal College of Music and a full-time residency at Montclair State University. Harlem Quartet has taught chamber music worldwide, most prominently at Música Mundi in Belgium, Soweto Music Academy in South Africa, and several "El Sistema" youth orchestras throughout Venezuela. Within the U.S., the Harlem Quartet has lead coachings at Brevard Summer Institute, Eastman School of Music, Interlochen Arts Academy, and Walnut Hill School for the Arts.

This commitment to engaging young kids from diverse backgrounds in a meaningful way led to the creation of the Harlem Quartet Workshop at Music Mountain.

Our vision for the workshop is to provide an inspiring space for a diverse group of participants to improve individual and group techniques as well as develop the fundamental communicative and social skills essential to succeed in any endeavor beyond music.

Please see the attached flyer for more information on our summer workshop opportunities and feel free to share it with any interested students. More information can also be found online at:
